Alchemist

Chapter 1

*I am an Alchemist. A real Alchemist.
I hold that Rank.*

There are a number of parts to achieving rank of Alchemist. One is the ability to change the physical properties of matter with your mind – the ability to rewrite reality with your mind. If one can do this to a sufficient level then one crosses a threshold in ability. This is one of the requirements to achieve Rank of Alchemist.

If people think that the ability to rewrite reality with the mind is science fiction then think again. People do it all the time. You do it all the time. The Double Slit Experiment, remember? The act of observing the experiment changes the electrons from being waves to being particles. Reality physically changes as can be seen by the change in pattern on the screen. In this we see a key principle of alchemy. The ability to change reality with the mind. After that it is a matter of degree.
