

General Mark Milley

Part II

By Ciarán Handley

18th September 2018

General Mark Milley

Chapter 1

People died, General Milley

You prevented me from reaching the Stargate to trigger the Virus that would have defeated the Borg. You prevented me from reaching the Stargate and issuing the command that would have broken the phase-lock on the implants, freeing us of the implants. You seized the UFO bases that I spent over a year hacking, taking them from the Resistance. You destroyed the information in the computers which was critical to the survival of humanity. You ignored my warnings about the Borg. You violated the sovereignty of my country and others with the NSA/Microsoft global hacking campaign. And you ordered my assassination on a number of occasions.

In order to safeguard your alliance with the Borg.

You killed children, General Milley. Innocents.

Through the implants. You administered neural shocks to their brain stems by use of the Borg neural implants, killing them instantly. You killed a number of people around me to put pressure on me when you found that you could not kill me directly. You killed children. Innocents. You killed many.

You're a big hard man when using Borg weaponry on children, General Milley. But let us see how hard a man you are with me. Thick fuck.

Little Big Man – "You Go Down There"

General Mark Milley

End of Part II