Launching my Political Party

Chapter 1

“You know of me?”

I have lived in exile for years. Off the grid. But recently I started writing documents.

You see for the last hundred years or so, society has fallen into disarray

Goals and values have become scattered. And so I've been writing documents about this.

But what I find really, really surprising is that people are now reading my documents. You see for years I have tried to talk to scientists and others about my research. For years I have given public talks and demonstrations of my work. But the reaction generally was of being dismissed. My work was not taken seriously.

Now for the first time I find myself in a position where people actually know of me. They've been reading my documents. Which I'm really, really not used to.
